WASHINGTON.

The Case of the Appointed Senators.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections

Makes a Formal Report in Favor of Seating Them.

The Price of Silver Yesterday Reached the Lower Figure in Nearly Twenty Years.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—[Associated Press.]—The senate committee on privileges and elections held a meeting this afternoon in regard to the credentials of the appointed senators from the new states. Senator Allen appointed by the governor of Washington, appeared before the committee and recited the facts connected with the appointments, and gave the committee the benefit of his opinion as to the legal question involved. Mantle of Montana, and Beckwith of Wyoming, also appeared and told the history of the contests that resulted in their appointments.

After looking up precedents the committee took a vote which resulted for giving the senators seats. Turpie and Pugh, Democrats, and Chandler, Hoar and Higgins, Republicans, against seating Vance, Palmer and Grey, Democrats, and Mitchell, Republican. Chandler in order to prevent a tie and secure a report to the senate voted in favor of seating the senators, but reserved the right to take such action as he thought best on the report to the senate.

Wants to Get at Facts.

McPherson offered a resolution which was referred to the committee on education and labor, directing the commissioner of labor to make a report at the opening of the 53rd congress comprehending facts as to the total cost of producing the various iron and steel products such as bar iron, steel rails, etc., and of the leading articles of textile industry, and other articles, the cost of which may be approximately obtained.

The Lowest Notch.

The price paid for silver today by the treasury department, $0.8275 per ounce, is the lowest since the silver purchase act went into effect.

A TAME AFFAIR.

A Disappointed Crowd at Coney Island.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., March 21.—[Associated Press.]—A large crowd came down tonight anticipating two good fights. The first was a ten-round bout between Jack McGee and Billy McCarthy, of Australia. It was declared a draw. Then came George Dixon and Siddons. Physicians' certificates were read showing that Skelley, who was to have fought Siddons was in no condition to fight. The referee announced that if Dixon and Siddons were able to continue at the end of twelve rounds the fight would be a draw. This was the only condition on which the bout could be arranged. For the man who had the advantage up to the end of the fight should receive $1500 of the $2000 purse. The fight was a very tame affair, and the men were jeered by the spectators. It was declared a draw at the end of the twelfth round.

OFF FOR HAWAII.

The Rush Sails with Commissioner Blount.

He Refuses to Talk Concerning His Mission to the Islands—More Instructions Received.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—[Associated Press.]—Ex-Congressman Blount, commissioner to Hawaii, arrived here today on his way to Honolulu. He did not go to a hotel, but accompanied by his wife and secretary boarded the United States revenue cutter Rush immediately.

Commissioner Blount arrived at 11:45 o'clock and at 1:15 the Rush sailed for Honolulu. Commissioner Blount said his instructions were secret and accordingly refused to talk. He said he expected to remain in Hawaii about three months. Just before the Rush sailed a large bundle of dispatches were received by Blount which are supposed to contain additional instructions.

A HOMICIDE.

The Murderer Gives Himself Up to Officers.

LAKEPORT, Cal., March 21.—[Associated Press.]—Particulars have been received of a homicide in Scott's Valley in which Willie Stevens shot and instantly killed Jim Ferrill. The latter and Stevens had met in a road near Soudam Affre's house. Ferrill started home in a cart with his wife and was met in the same place by Stevens, who was armed with a 44-calibre rifle. The quarrel was renewed, and Stevens invited Ferrill out of the cart to fight. Ferrill complied and Stevens shot three times, all of the shots taking effect and causing instant death. Stevens came to Lakeport and surrendered to the officers. The revolver found on Ferrill's body had one chamber discharged, but where is not known.

Awarded Damages.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—The jury in the Superior court today awarded F. D. Johnston $1014 damages against the Southern Pacific Company. Johnston had bought a round trip ticket from Los Angeles to Denver. On leaving the latter city the conductor became suspicious that the signature which Johnston affixed to the ticket in his presence was not the same as the original signature and he ejected him from the train. Johnston sued for $10,000.

A Famous Doctor Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Po Tai, the famous Chinese doctor, died here today of asthma. He was 76 years old and came to San Francisco forty years ago. He was widely known all over the Pacific coast and numbered among his patients hundreds of white people as well as Chinese. He had amassed a large fortune through his practice.

Luncheon for the Princess.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Princess Kaiulani, of Honolulu, was the guest of the Sorosis today. That society gave her a luncheon at the hotel Savoy at 1 o'clock. The princess announced this morning that she would give a farewell address to the public before she sailed.

A PRETTY MESS.

A Judge Gets Into Serious Trouble.

Attempts to Antagonize a Legislature and Gets the Worst of the Deal.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 21.—[Associated Press.]—The coal combine fight is growing warmer. This morning Judge Egan of the circuit court, ordered the detention of the sergeant-at-arms, and also ordered Representative Walsh to give up the books of the coal combine. Walsh refused. Meanwhile the senate adopted a house resolution instructing the investigating committee to retain the letter book in the house. Threats were made of impeaching Judge Egan for detaining an officer and member of the legislature. The sergeant-at-arms was instructed to bring into the house the body of Representative Walsh, illegally detained by the court. Judge Egan was so disconcerted by the demand that Walsh walked out of court, as did also Sergeant-at-Arms Snout, who had been under arrest since Friday. The calling out of the military is being advocated to enforce the orders of the legislature.

CALIFORNIA STORMS.

Rain and Snow Causes an 'Overflow.'

STOCKTON, Cal., March 21.—[Associated Press.]—High water in the river caused by the heavy rain and snow in the mountains has caused an overflow of the river this morning. A considerable portion of Stockton is under water, but the damage is very slight, if any. The water kept rising till noon, when it appeared to be at a standstill. It came in a rush from the mountains, running through the town from the east, flooding all the streets except Main, Market and Washington streets, in the business portion of the town. Water is running through the streets at a depth of two feet, but seems to have reached its greatest height. It is running away fast, going westerly on the trend of the land. Many basements are flooded in the business part of the town and merchants will suffer some loss from damaged goods. Breaks in the island levees will carry off the flood very fast. The present high water is the highest since 1862.

SAN DIEGO, March 21.—Last night the rising streams washed out the Santa Fe track here, and damaged the bridge at Capistrano and washed out the road.

MERCED, Cal., March 21.—The water has gone down a little, but is still from one to three feet deep in portions of the city. The only damage reported was caused by the filling up of cellars. The indications are for more rain and more damage is feared.

Gentle Spring.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Spring is ushered in today, but according to the reports and prognostications of the signal service it is not a very balmy kind of spring. Raw unpleasant weather prevails in the east, west and northwest, although the extreme south is reveling in warm sunshine, and the air is filled with the grateful flowers in bloom. All the signs have pointed, however, to an early spring throughout the country, and the weather man's prognostication gives hope that eastern bonnets and new spring fashions may be worn with impunity a couple of weeks hence.

A Terrible Storm.

SYDNEY, March 11.—A destructive hurricane swept on the sixth of March over the New Hebrides islands and New Caledonia, destroying many villages and causing a great loss of life. A number of natives are said to have perished. The hurricane was the worst one ever experienced there. It raged incessantly for three days and the rain-fall was enormous. Half of new Caledonia is flooded and in Tehio alone ten persons were drowned. The loss of property was at least $600,000. Most of the settlers are ruined.

A Job for Harrison.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21.—Ex-President Harrison is to be tendered the presidency of the Indiana State University, at Bloomington.

ALL AT SEA.

The Arizona Governorship Yet Unsettled.

A Non-Resident May Be Named.

Secretary Smith Annoyed by the Arizona Contingent.

Zulick Hurts Dennis by His Persistence—The Chances of Dr. Hughes Improving.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—[Special.]—No Arizona appointments were made today and none were even considered by the president, though Secretary Smith received calls from friends of all the candidates for governor. The secretary is much annoyed and perplexed at the persistency of the Arizona contingent, and told one of the delegations that he had about concluded to settle the matter by recommending an outsider—probably a Georgia man—for the place.

So far as the territorial candidates are concerned the situation has not changed from yesterday, though H. A. Hughes stands fully as well while Zulick and Mark Smith are hurting Dennis somewhat by pushing him in season and out of season.

The appointment may not be made for several days yet, and it need not surprise anyone if the nominee should happen to be a non-resident of the territory.

Rates to the Fair.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 21.—A dispatch from Cumberland Gap park says that the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents is in session today at Four Seasons hotel. A number of important matters relating to the transportation of world's fair visitors are to come up for consideration.

A Mill Explosion.

LEITCHFIELD, Ill., March 21.—Kehlor's mills, the largest steam flouring mills in the world, burned today. A terrible explosion occurred and hundreds of houses were wrecked and several lives lost. The mills were entirely destroyed. The loss is over a million dollars.

World's Fair Directors.

CHICAGO, March 21.—The time allowed for the registering of proxies for the forthcoming election of directors of the World's fair expired today. The indications are that the present board will be re-elected intact by an immense majority.

Mackay Improving.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—John W. Mackay's physicians this morning announced that their patient's condition was not at all alarming and he is rapidly improving.

INATTENTIVE HOUSE MEMBERS.

A New York Congressman Thinks Their Writing Desks Should Be Taken Away.

"There is but one way in which this can be made a decent legislative body," said a member from New York to a Washington Post reporter as he surveyed the house and heard one man speaking while one hundred and sixty-six others chewed gum or rustled papers, "and that way is to take from the members their desks. They should be given no opportunity to write while legislative business is on tap. If placed upon straight, hard benches with nothing to do save talk or listen they would know more of what is going on. Long ago the English realized this fact. In the house of commons there is never disturbance of any kind unless an extremely heated and factional debate is on. Every body in the chamber hears what the man who has the right of way is saying. If the members wish to write or read the newspapers or swap yarns that used to be funny many years ago they go into a room provided for that purpose. I am not much of an Anglomaniac myself. In fact, I think that cockney immigration ought to be permanently barred. But there are things other than trousers that we might copy from England and be nothing the worse for it."

ALLIGATOR SHOOTING.

An Exciting Sport Which Is Pursued in Darkness.

Mr. Kirk Munroe describes in the Cosmopolitan a canoe trip in company with two young Seminole Indians, Micochee and Kowika, who were engaged in their regular occupation of hunting alligators for their hides. The canoe was a dugout, made by Micochee himself out of a huge cypress log. The trio made camp late in the afternoon, and after awhile Mr. Munroe discovered what he had not before suspected—that the hunting was to be done at night. Darkness had hardly fallen before the bellowing of alligators was heard—a sound much like the roar of an angry bull. Micochee listened with evident satisfaction. "Allapatta plenty. Me catch 'em, Uncah!"

We had killed five of the monsters when we turned our prow up stream. Micochee wielded his push pole from the stern. Kowika sat in the middle of the canoe, while I, with jack light on my head and rifle in hand, occupied the position of honor in the bow.

The alligators had ceased their mutterings and I had begun to think that we had killed or frightened them all. Just then I was startled by a slight motion on the bank but a few yards away. At the same instant two coils of fire gleamed through the blackness. What could they be? I was about to speak, when a sharp "hisi" from behind told me that the moment for action had come. Taking a hasty aim at one of the lurid coils, I fired.

The report of the rifle was followed by such a wild rush into the water, such whirling and splashing, such showers of spray and bloody foam that it was as if a small cyclone had been dropped from the heavens into that quiet spot. Little Kowika screamed in his excitement, but Micochee only expressed his displeasure at my bad shot by muttering: "Ho-le-wa-gus! Heap bad!"

BARS OF BULLION.

Two Bars of Gold from Vulture Found.

They Were Secreted in a Livery Stable in San Bernardino by Some One.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 21.—[Associated Press.]—Win. Meags, an employe in Cole's livery stable, on the corner of Third street, while cleaning out the stable dug up two bars of gold bullion. The bars were stamped "Vulture," and are supposed to be from the celebrated Vulture mine, near Prescott, Arizona, which turned out so much wealth in early days. The old Arizona stage route from Prescott to this city and Los Angeles had its supply point here, and passengers and teams stopped for refreshments and a night's rest. The bars are supposed to have been secreted by some miner returning from work in Arizona.

A QUEEN'S PRIVILEGES.

Victoria May Order a Whole Opera Company to Sing for Her.

There are some delightful prerogatives incident to the high estate of empress-queen which would go far toward reconciling one to being as stout and short as is the present very worthy incumbent of the English throne. Fancy being able to command an entire opera company to come to you at your home, with all of their paraphernalia, instead of hustling through your dinner and racing up elevated stairs, hanging on straps in street cars, spoiling your temper and best gloves, all to get to your seat in the close and crowded theater before the first act is over.

The queen, according to the Boston Globe, manifests an increasing interest in this form of diversion, and although the year of mourning for the duke of Clarence has not yet passed, Mlle. de Lussan has been summoned twice to appear before her majesty, the last time in the title role of "Carmen." Nearly a thousand pounds were spent in the preliminary preparation of the Waterloo chamber for the performance, quite apart from the expense incurred in bringing down the company and special scenery, and a large contingent of royalty was on hand, in brilliant dress and handsome jewels, to give the popular American prima donna the stimulus of appreciative applause. The queen came in dressed in black, leaning lightly on her ebony staff, and apparently in the best of spirits. She applauded frequently, tapping her fan on the gilt table in front of her chair, and when the performance was over she presented Mlle. de Lussan with a diamond pin and most cordial congratulations on her success, and talent.

A WATCH THAT TALKS.

It Is So Made That It Speaks the Hours Instead of Striking Them.

It is said a watchmaker of Geneva, Switzerland, has just completed a watch which, instead of striking the hours and quarters, announces them by speaking like the phonograph. The mechanism of the watch is based on phonographic conditions, the bottom of the case containing a phonographic sensitive plate which has received the impression of the human voice before being inserted in the watch.

The disk, according to the Jewelers' Circular, has forty-eight concentric grooves, of which twelve repeat the hours, twelve those of the hours and quarters, and twelve more those of the hours and second and third quarters. If the hand on the dial shows the time to be 12:15 o'clock, one of the fine needle points of the mechanism crosses the corresponding groove and the disk, which turns simultaneously, calls out the time, just as the phonographic cylinder. The lower lid of the case is provided with a tiny mouthpiece, and when the watch is held to the ear the sound is all the more plain.

The Road to Wealth.

The colored janitor of a Sedalia (Mo.) public school saves $49 every month out of his monthly salary of $42. He is undoubtedly the greatest accumulator of the country.
